

BETTER MOBILITY TODAY

URBAN PLANNING

WHAT?

To enable communities to set up infrastructures that will have a positive impact on their inhabitants' daily transport, ENGIE works upstream on the necessary urban-planning projects.

Taking into account a wide variety of analysis criteria, such as demographics, sociology and regional morphology, ENGIE experts offer a detailed planning of areas surrounding the infrastructures in order to streamline transport as much as possible.

WHY?

- To optimise the impact of new infrastructures.
- To effectively adapt new developments to existing infrastructures.
- To choose the best transport solution with regard to its impact on the rest of the region.
- To present and communicate on an infrastructure project.

HOW?

Through its subsidiary TRACTEBEL, ENGIE offers a multidisciplinary consulting service with international experts in numerous scientific and economic fields.

FOR WHOM?

Municipalities like Brussels, Ghent, La Louvière, Antwerp, Kortrijk, etc.
